DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the method (steps of method, a flow chart of method) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification (drawings) in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The description of figure 1, the simplified diagram, uses general terms and common sense suggestions, but does not clearly describe a method of producing decorative panels. The applicant to provide drawing(s), to include steps, a flow chart of method for the claimed limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-20 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cavendish et al. (U. S. Patent 5,119,309).

Art Unit: 2125

Cavendish discloses all the claimed limitations of a method of producing panels using a computer-driven machining, including having X, Y, and Z coordinates (column 12, lines 1-10).

A method of forming a composite surface which is comprised of a base or primary surface and a number of features, and which satisfies certain functional objectives or requirement. Implemented in a Computer Aided Design system employed to assist in the design of automobile inner panels, the method accepts as input a feature-based information which describes the geometry of a particular inner panel, and produces as an output, a composite surface with a user-specified degree of smoothness. The method permits interactive design and modification of complex inner panel surfaces, and significantly simplifies attendant aspects of the panel design process such as numerically controlled machining.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the method taught by Cavendish to be used in producing decorative panels using a computer-driven machining tool for increasing accuracy, speed and reduce manufacturing time and cost.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Riley et al., Rongo, Hayashi, Sachs, Vouzelaud et al. and Berman disclose related art.
